SAILORS DESERT BRITISH YEOMAN VETERAN CUTTER JAPAN BOATS AT 'FRISCO REPAIRS ARE FINISHED HARTLEY WILL BE RETIRED

Escaped sailors from the T. K. K. liner Kwanto Maru, which left Honolulu January 22, from Yokohama, are causing coast federal immigration agents and Toyo Kisen Kaisha representatives much worry, according to the San Francisco Examiner of February 4, which says the steamer and the Unkai Maru, the latter expected here by the Inter-Island February 17 for bunkers, are responsible for the difficulty.

Those who got away from the Kwanto Maru of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha at that company's wharf cut a spiral out of a door, and apparently jumped overboard and swam ashore. The steamship company's employees said only two firemen escaped in this manner, but Commissioner of Immigration Edward White said he had been informed there were six.

Two sailors slipped away from the Unkai Maru, under charter to McNear for Sydney, Australia, at Pier 31, according to F. W. Kutter, McNear's superintendent.

Commissioner White said he had heard nothing of the escape of any Japanese until the night of February 3, and that he would conduct an investigation at Angel Island.

Some time tomorrow morning the British bark British Yeoman will be floated out of the Inter-Island drydock, and will be made ready to sail for Port Townsend to load lumber for Port Adelaide, Australia. Her officers say today they expect to sail about the middle of next week.

The repaired rudder, a five-ton piece of iron and steel, practically rebuilt, was lifted into place this morning, and other repairs have already been completed and the hull painted, so the bark is now as good as ever after her narrow escape from going ashore on the rocks of Port Allen in last month's kona gale. She was towed here from Port Allen January 20.

New anchors and cables arrived from San Francisco in the Matsushita February 1, and will be taken aboard the British Yeoman as soon as she goes out of drydock tomorrow.

After 40 years of service, the venerable coastguard cutter Hartley, well-known to Honolulu seafaring men and for nearly half a century the conveyance of boarding officers at Meigs wharf in every kind of weather, is doomed to retirement, says the San Francisco Examiner.

Word that Secretary McAdoo has approved an item of $50,000 in the general appropriations of the department, to buy a new cutter for San Francisco, was received by Collector of Customs J. O. Davis from United States Senator James D. Phelan. A vessel that is being considered is the old Pacific Mail tug Arabs, one of the staunchest craft on the bay. The Arabs cost $60,000 to build, and is held now at a value of $30,000.

The Hartley has been considered ready for a pension for several years. The boat is narrow, which makes trips aboard her in heavy weather anything but a pleasure jaunt.

Advices to the Inter-Island state that three steamers will call for bunkers before the end of this month. That there will be heavy tourist travel from the islands to the Canadian Northwest after the Carnival is believed by the shipping department of Theo. H.
